

Year planning

Introduction

The masterpiece in front of you is meant to give you some orientation on the relevant topics and accordingly important dates over the academic year of 2019 – 2020. Please be aware that those dates (months) are preliminary announcements. This document does not obligate the OS or other parties to host an event on a specific date or talk about a certain topic at a specific time. An exception are the dates that literally announce a 'deadline'. The information you can find in is supposed to ease your scheduling and preparations. Most dates at this point are based on 'Research and Estimation', don't pin us down on it and rather double-check with other sources for yourself, if you want to have certainty. We are very happy to receive suggestions on dates/topics that need to be included in this document and we will try to update it as often as possible. This might not remain as a layout/platform.

If you encounter risks or side-effects, please contact your physician or pharmacy!

They probably cannot help you, but would be fun, to hear that you asked healthcare entities for advice regarding this document.
